

Molly Harte

Trainee Patent Attorney

Molly joined J A Kemp as a trainee patent attorney in 2019 and is based in the firm's London office.

Molly obtained her Masters degree in Natural Sciences at University of Cambridge. Her Masters project was focused on the potential use of cellulose nanocrystals in stratospheric geoengineering, as a way to combat rising global temperatures.

She also undertook a summer research project investigating different mediator consequences and reactions within Li-air batteries. Molly was awarded a College Scholarship in the first year of her degree.
